We Are Superman is a moving film showing how anyone can be a "Superman," doing what others might consider impossible. Several individuals, organizations, and the community's forgotten citizens, fight every day to bring positive change others ignore.

Friday, April 6

"Chasing Ice"

(76 Minutes)

Sponsor: Terry Wiggins

Chasing Ice is the story of James Balog's mission to gather undeniable proof of our changing planet. This "hauntingly beautiful" and award-winning documentary shows Balog's struggles with sub-zero temperatures, faulty equipment, long days and his own internal challenges.

Friday, May 4

"Frederick Law Olmsted: Designing America"

(60 Minutes)

Sponsor: Cheri Briscoe

Designing America describes how Frederick Law Olmsted made "environmental ethics" an idea long before the concept of the environment and green issues touched our lives and became a part of American politics. Olmsted initiated the concept of parks as essential to our cities as both elements of art and nature.
